A wonder

full Prophecye contynuyng
tyll the yere of our Lorde. M. D. L.
Made by the Famous and excellente
Clerke/ Master John Carpon. Astro-nomer of the prince Electour of Bran-denborgh. For a glasse or example to them that understand and are wyse: and for a dilay ne and reprofe to them that are folysh.

R37633

Translated out of Douttch into Eng-glysh by Anthony Scoloker.

IMPRINTED
At London/ by Anthony Scoloker
and Wyllyam Seres Dwelling in the Sauoyrtes.
Without Tem
plebarre.

Cum Gratia et priuilegio ad Imp.

A wonder

full Prophecye contynuyng
tyll the yere of our Lorde. M.D.L.
Made by the Famous and excellente
Clerke/ Master John Carpon. Astro-nomer of the prince Electour of Bran-denborgh. For a glasse or example to them that understand and are wyse: and for a dilpay ne and reproffe to them that are
folysh.

R37633

Translated out of Doutch into Eng-glysh by Anthony Scoloker.

IMPRINTED
At London by Anthony Scoloker
and Wyllyam Seres Dwelling
in the Sauoyardes.
Without Tem
plebarre.

Cum Gratia et priuilegio ad Imp

To the reader.

Master John Carió wryteth, that he hath been a long season in mynde to set furth some good thig whereby the iust ād good people might be warned, and the wycked feared and threatened. Item James Lichtemberger and Paracelsus haue in lyke case much writtē after the same maner. But verely there was neuer none yat anye tyme hath set furth ỳ Armes of Emperours, kigs, pryces and Lordes, as Carion hath. And his prophecy shal continue almoost tyll the yeare of our Lorde. m. d. lx. And to the intent that all men maye the better vnderstande or perceyue the same, hereafter followeth the exposytyon of the same Prophetye. For it is not geuen to euery man to vnderstand the same, but vnto such as haue laboured many corneys or they that haue red much.

John Carió sayth furthermore, that the time to come will exted or reach no further, then vnto tyll the yeare of our

A wonderfull prophecy continuing tyll the yeare of our lorde. m.d lx. Made by the famous and excellent Clerke, Master John Caryon. Astronomer of the prince Electour of Brandenborgh. For a glasse or example to them that understande and are wyse: & for a disdayne and reproffe to them that are folysh.

The prophecy.

Sorrowfull Eagle dyd flye a longe season, with great disquietnes and labour.

The exposicion.

By this ye shal understād Maximilia[illegible]

Above that Reghenburgh and the Bohemians were sore beaten. And Maximilian hym selfe set first vppon them: in the which warre the prayse worthye prince Duke Ezich of Brūswyke was wounded to death. Thys Emperoure Maximilian had to do wyth the Bys-shop of Rome and with the worlde. He had warre. viij. yeares agaynst the Venetians/ he dyed whan he was old. lxiij. yere. He was a louer of storyes/ of all artes and of all learned men.

The prophecye.

He did let the nest of hys yong ones vppon a golden steple.

The Exposicion.

That is, Maximilian did bryng Phyl-ipp his sone in the kingdom of Castelye/ he maried the doughter there. And e time to come will extend or reach no rther/ for almost xpti the yeare of our

For his lynnall garmentes were with .iij. partes whyte ouerthwarte stryples and reade.

The exposition.

That is Justyce which hath a shylde, or armes whyte ouerthwarte stryppes and reade.

The prophecye.

The Eagle plucked
Fourdelyce and marred hys

The exposition.

That is / Maximilian dyd vexe the frenchmen as nameiye. Anno. M. CCCC. xciij. Henrye the .viij. king of Englande went ouer the sea to Calais with great power for to warre agaynst the frenchmen. And Maximilian did dying with the frenchmē with xiiij. c. and. l. of the chefest of fraunce which he toke pry-soners/and the frenchmen left ar-Ban ners/and al their prouand and wagōs. In this yere/was Duke hēry/ ꝑ duke of Bꝛoūswykes father/shotte to death/ at the ozte in Frysclande in the warre of the pꝛice of Saxon, in the ende of the sayde warre.

The pꝛophecy.

And destroyed his owne fe-thers whiche glyttered of blackenes, ād much cattell sustepned damage ād hurt with him.

The exposicion.

Agayne/ Je dyd also chaunce wonders euell vnto this faythfull pꝛince Maxi-milian. He was taken pꝛisoner at Bꝛuy-ges in Flandꝛes/ in the yere of our lord cerly kozloke him in these affayres / and in other warres as in the warres of low doutchlād / Celtica Fraunce, Swit serlād and Venice. And the princes sul teyned damage and hurte with him / as the Marquis of Castmir / the Duke of brownelwyke / the Earle of Mans felde wᵗ many other whych serued hym faythfully.

The prophetye.

He did byte the serpent / was bytten of hyz agayne.

Therposition.

By this I vnderstand Ma the whych / the frenche kyn a saying. Inn millan take

was he byth of ỹ Venetiās And ỹ duke of Mylan (in the cōfederacy promised but sythe kepte) wolde betraye the Emperour/ so that he was fayne to wythdraw him selfe: but afterwarde he recōpensed them well therfore.

The prophecy.

And after much disquietnes/gaue him selfe to rest.

The exposition.

he departed from this vale mo. M. C. and. xix. and was tayde. And it was good here then as it was whē Frederycke hys fathes death, there kinsmē ỹ du gus in Flandres: in the yere of our lord

The prophecy.

His yong ones vppon the golden steple lyued not longe.

The exposition.

That is to be vnderstand of king Philip whome the fortune of this worlde hath not muche fauoured, and he came skant to the age of .xxx. yeres for he beyng abrode a huntinge, did drinke a sodein draught by the which he hurted his lyghtes and lyuer, and died of the same.

The prophecy.

How beit he left other yong ones.

The exposition

gary, who, Anno. m. d. xxvi. after turtē and insurrection of the rusticall Soliman the Turkysh Emperour yng come with great power into Hu-gary, And came by Belgrado, and th slyde good kyng Lodowyke, being helpeleſe and comfortles of all Chr prynces, concluded with hi selfe to d towardes ꝑ sayd Turkish Emper So it chaunced, that the sayd Turk did set harde vppon the Hongaria and slewe Tomorius, bysshopp Strigonia. The bysshop also of W radin, with other mo. And after t kyng Lodowyke was set amongt horsemen in fleyng and withdrawi backe, was cast from his horses ba and was troden of the other horses so kylled. Thus miserably ended th noble pryncē his lyfe, in the defence his owne natyue contrey. so that h it semeth. Honestum bellu turpi pace melius.

ought vp in their youth in great quie nes.

the exposicion.

p this vnderstand Charles and Fer inand.

the prophecy.

But whan they cam to their ates, they wered their winges.

The exposicion.

As by experience we haue seen and re do dayly see / by greate warres as Fraunce / in Affryke and in the land Boyne and other. I holde my peace the intollerable sute or holding of a counsell / wherewith the Empe hath bene fulfore burthened / ingers that the Turke reseth not ye to haue to do with the king / by rea on wherof although their wigs were some feble and weake.

palow lyon in the blewe felde.

the expolition.

That is/the Duke of Gelder. Which came to palle whan the Emperour gat Gelder and Gulick and compelled the Duke to make contract with him.

the prophecy.

He shall breake out the serpents teth/that he shall not byte.

the expolicion.

That cam to palle with the citie of My-lan/whan Pope clement the. vij. (that ip tritual man) wolde haue an occasion to warre forsoke the Empetour. In the cas[illegible] the sayde cytie of Mylan was [illegible]cus Sforcia beleged. And the cetarians wanne the cytie, & playde many a prowd and arrogãt parte, whe with they taught the inhabitaunters o Mylan maners/in violatinge of thei wyues/doughters and maydens/an spoyled them of their goods and riche les/and so that they were whole and a vnhyne: And were compelled/throug famyne and lacke of sustenaũce/to yelde [illegible]